

Vodafone Internet Access

I'm online

How are you?

The information you need is only a touch away

The real Internet the moment you want it

Whether you are out and about on-site with clients or taking a quiet 10 minutes to catch up on your e-mails, Vodafone Internet Access makes life easier for you.

Make everyone's lives easier

If you work in IT or a Purchasing Department, impress your users by giving them the freedom to access the information they need, such as e-mail and the web, wherever and whenever they want.

Imagine how much simpler your life would also be if you could browse the web or check supplier prices online, even when you're out of the office.

Cutting-edge technology

You don't even need to invest in new servers or worry about blowing the budget on new equipment.

To take advantage of the latest wireless technology, all you need is a GPRS-enabled mobile phone that you can use with existing laptops and PDAs.

Alternatively, Vodafone can provide you with the complete package, whichever best suits your requirements.

We've even developed some easy to install and use software, available to you free of charge, which means you can be up and running in a couple of minutes.

Well-connected

With Vodafone Internet Access, you're constantly connected. This means you can stay connected and online all day, but only pay for the information you send and receive. We'll also put together a solution that fits perfectly with your business requirements, whatever your budget.

Freedom to work wherever you are

Working in Sales can be a challenging career. The competition is snapping at your heels, the Managing Director has high expectations for you to hit target, and Finance are always chasing you for the latest forecasts. What's more, you're spending more and more of your evening trying to catch up from being out of the office all day.

Imagine what a difference it would make to be able to send e-mails and access the web on the move!

Take advantage – anywhere

With Vodafone Internet Access, you can be constantly in touch and always in control, working wherever and whenever you need, whether it's on the train, in a car park or at a motorway service station.

Enjoy the benefits

You could be sending reports to the board, or accessing the latest information and prices on your competition. You can even impress your clients with your efficiency by e-mailing meeting minutes to them before you leave their premises.

As you will also be saving time, you could even fit more client visits into your working day – and spend the evening relaxing for a change.

Well-connected

If you're a Sales Director, you'll also be worried about how easy it is for your team to use Vodafone Internet Access. We've made it so simple that you can either use your existing laptops or PDAs, or we'll provide a package to suit your team's needs. And because they're always connected, they've no excuse for missing their forecast deadlines.

Running a business isn't easy

When you are in a board meeting one day and lunching with clients the next, getting access to the information you need quickly can be frustrating and even costly.

Imagine being able to access up-to-date management reports, send e-mails to colleagues and check stocks and shares discreetly on the train, in the airport or even at the 19th hole!

Control is only a touch away

Having access to the limitless resources of the web gives you the freedom to make those important decisions on the move. It can also help you win brownie points with friends and family, by finding and ordering that ideal present or well-deserved break online.

Well-connected

If you're a Managing Director, you'll also be worried about keeping costs down. With Vodafone Internet Access we've changed the way we charge – you now only pay for the data you send and receive, enabling you to stay online for as long as you choose.

Business partners

We'll also work with your IT and Finance Departments to deliver the right solution for your business – without blowing the budget – as well as talking to your sales team to ensure they also understand how easy it is to use.

Control is only a touch away

You could be sending the board the latest financial reports, browsing the web or accessing up-to-the minute forecasts while at lunch with a client. Wherever you are, imagine being able to make those important business decisions on the move.

Take advantage – anywhere

You no longer need to be tied to your desk or near a phone line to stay in touch. All you need is a GPRS-enabled handset connected to a laptop or PDA to give you the experience that is close to, or the same as, Internet access from a fixed workstation.

Internet Access

As well as having access to the limitless resources of the web, you can also benefit from sending those last minute e-mails from wherever you happen to be. It can also help you win brownie points with friends and family, by finding and ordering that ideal present or well-deserved break online.

Well-connected

Working in Finance obviously means that you are concerned about costs. With Vodafone Internet Access, we've changed the way we charge, so your bills will be lower than you might think.

You only pay for the amount of data you send and receive, meaning you can stay connected all day and remain online until that vital information arrives.

You can use existing equipment, or a laptop or PDA package from Vodafone and we can put together a solution that's just right for your budget.
